

I am sensible my Dr Jefferson does not think it a trouble to oblige a friend - therefore trust she will excuse my liberty I am going to take in requesting she will execute ye following commissions for me: will you send for M<sup>lle</sup>. Bertrand + enquire what skins are ye most in fashion for Pelisses, (I mean to except Sable + Ermine), + how much she will make me one for with a Muff to suit it - I should like a pale Pink satin trimm'd with either white, or red Foxes skin, will you ask her which she would recommend - I likewise want a piece of Edging something like ye pattern with regard to fineness, but would first wish to know if it wou'd answer to buy it in France - let me know how much per yard she would give for some like it - Tell her I will order any money I may in future owe her to be p<sup>d</sup> into any Bankers hands she thinks proper to name - & do Jeff send me Sagardin's bill, the man wou'd most undoubtedly arrest me should I appear in Paris - Are you as fond of Points as ever? at least let me send you something from England that I may beg you to send me some

Books - You once talked of sending me D'Estille, when is it to make its appearance? & an Almanack, in the name of Heaven don't forget the latter.
Now let me know what I can send you, whatever you may mention, you shall have & I will add nick nacks so as to make a great box full. I know your fondness. Have you any singular rib-bands? if you have send them me, nothing one wishes for so much, as to have things different from other people. Adieu, my dear girl, this is a letter of business, my next shall be full of news.
Do answer me immediately, your retâblir la paix entre nous - j'ai fais open d'avance c'est à vous les accorder. Sold Botidoux well for me, she has caught ye distemper & is lazier than any of us - I resume my pen D<sup>r</sup> Jeff to beg you will tell me all life news - Poor Peroult is dead I find - Tell me if mon Daagor's family is increased? & if you have petite coupis & c<sup>te</sup> as in De Rose time? Have you seen or heard of Simiers?
Who is your friend in the clafes? Shall I send you some of my hair according to my promise? If you still read novels, do let me send you Features from Life, or a Summer visit: it is remarkably well written & not very heroical, perfectly decent; & extremely sentimental & has more effect on ye feelings than any book I have ever met with. You will let me know ye price of the cloak &c before you bespeak them - a married woman you know must be economical -
