A large red silk quilt with a silk fringe which was on his bed to the last, & which is now in Tommy's Studio.

Books given to N. P. Trist by Thomas Jefferson
Among the books given to Nicholas Philip Trist are his own copy of his "Notes on Virginia." & his own copy of his "Parliamentary Rules." The Notes on Va I imprudently lent to Bennie Meikleham Sr who took them to Boote I suppose as he never returned it to my hands as I especially requested him to do. he says he put it where he took it from the day I lent it to him, & I told him especially not to put it there, but into my own hands!

This engraving was given by Mrs Jefferson to Mrs Joseph Coolidge of Boston, probably because it is a rare print

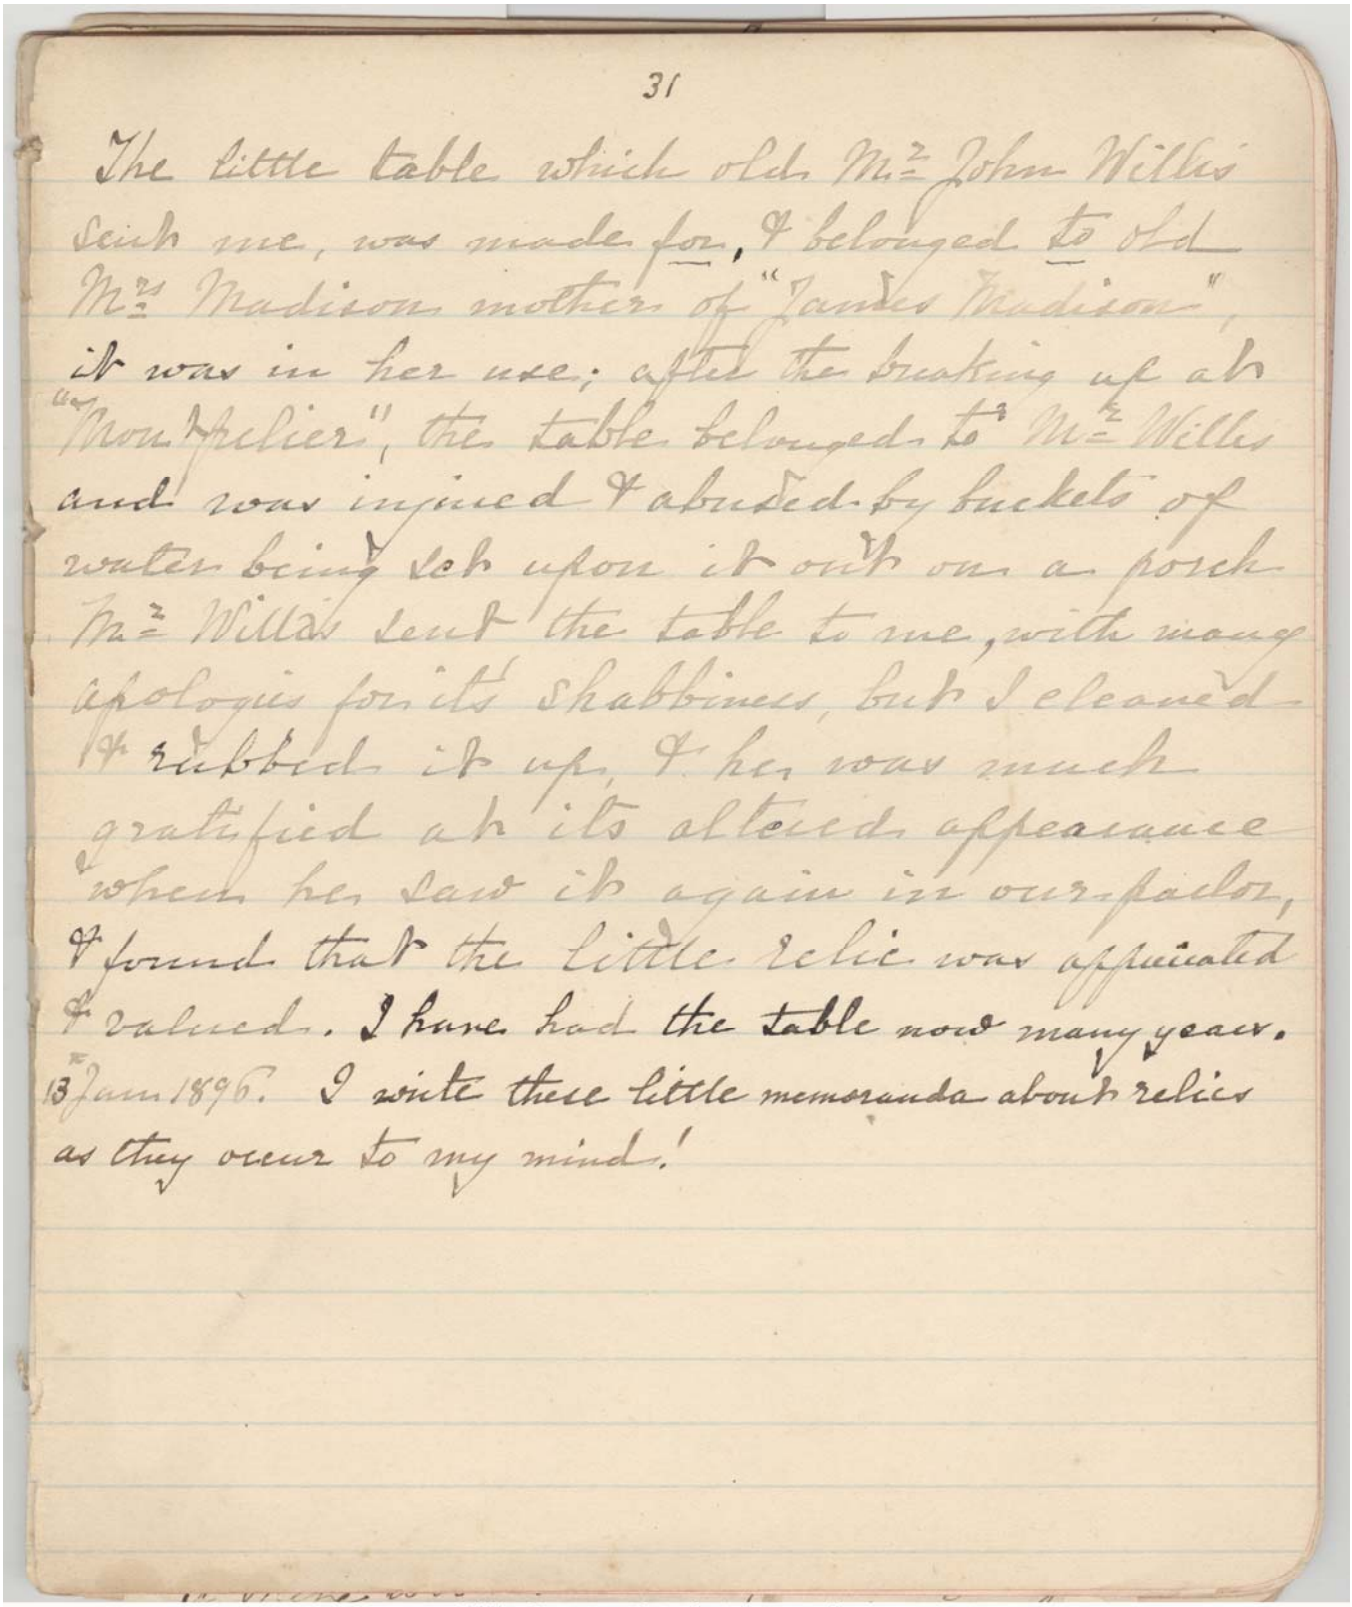

The water color drawing representing a Castle & a Lake in Sweden, painted for "Poivre" by an officer in the Swedish Army was also given or bequeathed to Mrs Jefferson, and belonged to Aunt Cornelia, I gave it to Harry

Some old engravings which I remember all my life, and which belonged to Mrs Jefferson are in the large old portfolio, two of these "Nanette Effrayée" & "Aglaë Saurée" used to hang in grandmama's sitting room in the old house at Edgehill, when my mother was a child, I gave these to Virginia & Ellen,

Some views of "Rome" done in red & representing ruins, also came from the Monticello portfolio. Also an engraving representing the "Fountain at Vaucluse" and some others, valuable only because they are old & belonged to Mrs Jefferson.

Written as I remember to do it Jan 12th/96

The little table which old Mrs John Willis sent me, was made for, & belonged to old Mrs Madison mother of "James Madison", it was in her use; after the breaking up at "Montpelier", the table belonged to Mrs Willis and was injured & abused by buckets of water being set upon it out on a porch Mrs Willis sent the table to me, with many apologies for its shabbiness, but I cleaned & rubbed it up, & her was much gratified at its altered appearance when her saw it again in our parlor, & found that the little relic was appreciated & valued. I have had the table now many years. 13th Jan 1896. I write these little memoranda about relics as they occur to my mind.
