A Copy. Dear Sir

Monticello Jan. 17, 1793

I find that the payments I have made by you will just about discharge my debt to you on your account and therefore propose that they should be applied to liquidate this instead of being against my first bond. I send you a copy of the account as complete as I can draw it. Before I see Mr. Hughes, that we may fix each debt and creditor in order to a final close. The first article of the 2d side is also the 2d is incomplete because you have never yet told me what price you got for the wheat. The 4th Mr. Hughes can fill up from his tavern accounts & the 8th also. I am not recollect the sum you received for Rachel and Nancy and must refer that article, the 5th to be completed by yourself. I have given you credit as you observe for a sum paid to Woodfin. Mr. Hughes tells me he is certain Woodfin did not call upon you and that the money was not paid. If it is so you can draw your pen three of what I propose meets with your approbation. I will thank you to return me the account filled up by Same that I may draw up the interest account, for as my bond when the receipt is erased from the back of it will bear interest from the 15th of April 1792, the day on which the money I shall have a right to interest till the 16th Nov. 1792 the day on which the money for the negro was due, for all sums paid before that day interest will be allowed you for the balance of the account from that day until it was discharged. I am unhappy at having failed to make my payments last it should have occasioned you inconvenience. I have sanguine hopes of being able to discharge 2 bonds next year; my prospects having never been so good as at present several untoward accidents have so disabled me this year that any payments I may have in my power to make will be but contemptible. I fear you will tell me if the disappointment will affect you materially! depend upon it nothing can insure me so effectually as the prospect of relieving you.

Original manuscript in the Edgehill-Randolph Papers, Albert & Shirley Small Special Collections Library, University of Virginia
Randolph to Mr. E.
Jan 17, 1798.

Fady by yours to be assured of her warmest affection she desires to be remembered to Mrs. Randolph and Nancy—my best wishes to Mrs. R. & Co. to Nancy

Your most affectionate son

& sincere friend

Thos. M. Randolph

Original manuscript in the Edgehill-Randolph Papers, Albert & Shirley Small Special Collections Library, University of Virginia